To Advertisers and the Business Community.

To Advertisers and the Business Commuin a few weeks, the cheera, which is subsiding, will disappear. The gloom and panie which have pravaited, will then give place to a prespect of revival of business, and activity in every description of commercial enterprise, almost equal to that which disclosed itself on the subsidence of the postilience of 1832-33, and which was followed by those extraordinary years of general prosperity—1834-35-36.

One of the principal elements and agencies in aiding and assisting business men, and domestic comfort and tranquility, in these revivals, is to be found in the newspaper press—the widely circulating daily journals lin connection with this matter, we may fairly place before the advertising community the advantages which the New York Herald possesses as a daily advertioning sheet. According to the recent developments in the dispute between us and the Tribune, it is now admitted that the Tribune has a circulation of about thirten thousand per day, while that of the New York Herald rises to twenty-five or twenty-vix thousand, and has frequently reached considerably over thirty thousand a day. Nor is it the vast oliculation of a journal alone, which gives it peculiar claims upon the attention of the advertising community. The character of that circulation, and the character of the readers and putrons of the journal, are of the highest importance to business people. Now in addition to the extraordinary and wide-spread circulation of the New York Herald, which is without a rival in its comprehensiveness, it is important to not that it circulates chiefly among the men of intelligence—the active business men—the active and busy classes of society in this and the other large that to note that it circulates chiefly among the men of intelligence—the active business mou—the active and busy classes of society in this and the other large sities and towns of the United States. There is no other journal in New York which has so large a circulation as the Herald, or any thing like it—none which exercises so great an influence upon the minds of the great, intelligent, and active masses of the country—This circulation is a diffusive circulation. In Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, and other great cities and centres of thought and business operations, the circulation of the Herald is as extensive as that of any of the local journals in those cities—that is to say, the Herald is as generally and regularly read.

local journals in those cities—that is to say, the Hersid is as generally and regularly read.

We present these facts and these views to our readers and patrons, and the bosiness community generally.—in a week or two, people will be returning from the country. Panic will give way to our usual tranquillity. The cholera, we have reason to hope, will have subsided. Business of all kinds will be resumed with freshvigor, and a revival will take place, unprecedented is the cemmercial annuls of this country. Of all this, we have no doubt. As an aid and auxiliary in this revival, the New York Heroid, from its position and vast circulation among all classes, commercial, political and ecolal, presents obvious claims upon the patronage of the advertising community. In this respect, no other journal in New York, and least of all, the Tribine, can enter into competition wich the New York Heroid.

CUMBERCIAL AFFAIRS.

MONEY MARKET. Wednesday, Aug. 8-6 P. M.

Stocks are all down sgain to day, and the transactions were to some extent. At the first board, Treasury notes fell off 1/4 per cent ; Pennsylvania 5's, 1/4 ; Hartem. % ; Farmers' Loan, % ; Long Island, 1 ; Reading Railroad, 1; Eric Railroad, %.

At the second board, there was no change in prices. but the market closed heavy and with a downward tendency. The money market is slowly tightening; business paper is plentier, and the banks do not discount so freely as formerly. Sterling exchange closed to-day firm at 9 a 9 % per cent, and the probability is, so freely as formerly. Sterling exchange closed bat rates, by the next packet, will be pretty well up to the specie shipping point. The imports are coming in very rapidly, while our exports, as will be seen by the statement below, are to a limited extent. It is our impression, from the appearance of things in the political end commercial horizon, that, within the next sixty dope, there will be a stringent money market.

The receipts at the office of the Assistant Tressurer of this port, to day, amounted to $100,811 90; payments, 104.074 #1 : advises, $80,000 ; balance, $1,437,538 77. The amount of specie exported from this port, from fanuary let to August 4th, is $1,527,514. Exported rom Boston, during the same period, $208,161.

The expose which has recently been made in England relative to railroad management, or mismanage ment, has opened the eyes of the public throughout the railway world, and orested a great deal of apprehen-sion regarding the financial affairs of every company The length of time that the ex-respectable George Hudson carried on his swindling operations, the confi-dence blindly placed in his judgment and genius, the enormous extent of his speculations, and the immease fortune made by his contracts in land, docks, steamboats, iron, &c , &c , are sufficient to astonish and startle all who are interested as shareholders in railreads in any part of the world The existing system of railroad management in this country and in England is nothing more or less than an organized system of swindling. The active swindlers are cliques of capitalists, of the most respectable character, and the swin-dled, men of mederate means, in all classes of society. How long this state of things will continue, depends entirely upon the adoption of some plan by which we can obtain detailed and correst reports and accounts, so that the public will have some satisfactory assurance that a few railroad shares may be held, either as a permanent or temporary investment, without sacrificing nearly one-half of the amount, or leaving a large handful of the fleece in the hands of a knot of directors acting in secret. The legislatures of the different States must pass laws for the better regulation of railroads. We must have railroad commissioners, whose duty it shall be to examine and investigate the affairs of each company and either make reports themselves, or audit those made by the directors. The fact is, the railroad companies of this country, generally, are organized bands of swindlers and speculators; and if we can only get a law through the Legislature, that will bring to light facts, it will show things very similar to those recently brought out in England. There are more Geo. Hudsons, on a small scale, in this country, than the poor, blind, deluded stockholders dream of, and facts will come out one of these days, independent of legislative investigation, that will create as great a sensation here as the recent expose has in England. The passage of the law referred to would hasten the crisis, and prevent a vast deal of foguery and rascality on the part of many of our highly respectable citizens.

The manner in which the affairs of our railroads are conducted, is of such a mysterious character that no one can form a correct idea of the value of a railroad share. There is no fixed value, and holders cannot take them into account in their commercial opera-tions or domestic arrangements. How many mercantile men there are in this city who subscribed largely to the principal railroads connected with this metropo-lis, and paid the par value, who are now cramped in their regular business operations, and have to submit to great sacrifices in their mercantile affairs, to avoid, if possibles the apparently greater secrifice in selling their stock at its present market value! Of two evils, they flatter themselves they choose the least; but they will, we fear, when too late, find that they have made a fatal mistake.

We have repeatedly called the attention of the public to the affairs of several railroad companies difeetly connected with this city, and have made every effort to induce the companies referred to, to give a full, fair and impartial statement of their receipts and expenditures—a correct statement of expense and construction accounts—the actual cost of the work so far as it has progressed—a proper classification of expendi-tures. &c., so that those interested could arrive at some conclusion, whether satisfactory or not, relative to the value of their shares. Thus far we have been unsuccessful; but if perseverance will accomplish anything, we must ultimately succeed. The secrecy with which all negotiations for ways and means to meet the demands from creditors and contractors are made, and the mysbonds, certificates, &c , are alone sufficient to destroy confidence and create distrust, but when we know that millions upon millions of dollars have been pocketed by the management of these companies, in the shape of profits on contracts for grading, for iron, timber, locemotives and cars; on the sale of lands for depots and right of way; in the purchase and sale of steamboats, for negociating loans, and for financiering in various ways, and in every way in which mency could be made, it is wonderful that an explosion has not taken place before this. As bad as all this is, we do not know one half. An effective sys-tem of publicity of accounts must sooner or later be adopted. Then, and not till then, shall we have an honest administration of the affairs of railroad companies. We give, in this day's paper, an interesting article from the London Times, relative to the swindling operations of railroad managers in Great Britain.

The annexed statement exhibits the quantity of certain articles exported from this port for the week anding the 7th inst. inclusive, disinguishing the destina-tion and extent of shipments to each place: --

The exporte generally, last week, were limited. Breadstuffs have not been so active as formerly noticed. The aggregate shipments for the week amounted to 17,304 bbls. flour; 80,459 bushels corn; 8,880 bushels wheat; 312 bbls. rye flour, and 407 bbls. corn meal. The late advices from Europe are not so favorable for exportations from this side. The temporary settlement of the difficulties in the north of Europe, has opened the ports of the Baltic, and supplies of grain from the embargoed ports will have an outlet, and shipments to a great extent will, doubtless, be made to Great Britain. This favorable prospect relative to the harvest, must tend to a further depreciation in prices. The effect of this upon the agricultural clauses of the United Kingdom. cannot be otherwise than disastrous; while it will be beneficial to the manufacturing and mechanical classes. Free trade in corn must be ruinous to the producers of England, unless a corresponding re-duction is made in rents; and we doubt if it is possible to enable the farmers of that country to compete in their own market with those of the United tates and the Continent, even in that way. The avere ge price of wheat in England, this year, has been much less than in any preceding year, and the probabillty is, that next year the average will be lower than this It cannot be disguised, notwithstanding the efforts of the British ministry, that there is much distress among the agricultural classes of England, and the protect buists attribute it entirely, and with truth and justice, to the removal of duties on corn, and the succonful of upetition of our producers in their own mar-kets. We have seen no remedy pointed out for this evil; the dut 'es cannot be restored; some other pulliative must be found; and we know of none but a wholesale reduc. You in land rents. To that the landlords mustfinally , ome, and the sooner it is commenced the more gradual it will be. The landed aristocra cy must bear their po, tion of the burdens, and they might as well do it quiet, v and willingly as to be forced to do so, upon the heel of a revolution. Fortunately, in England, reforms are brow tht about by the force of public opinion. Instead of by tak force of the bayonet

BOARD OF HEALTH, AUGUST SIXTH, 1819.—THE Medical Counsel of the Sanitary Committee, in the discharge of their duty, feel thomselves called upon again to address a few words of advice and precaution to their follow citizens. citiens.

In the first place, as the season has arrived when our markets are usually flooded with fruits of all descriptions, many of which are unrips, and some in a state of decay, our citizens cannot be too cautious bow they indulge in the use of them. Even in ordinary seasons they are known to be the prolification of serious and fatal bowel complaints. During the prosent season they are deally pernicious. With regard to children especially, of all ages, every often thould be made to prevent them from even tomehing or tasting them. A single indiscretion in this respect has been known to be fatal to life.

to prevent them from even touching or tasting them. A single indiscretion in this respect has been known to be fatal to life.

In the second place, during the hot season, the greatest caution should be observed in incurring unnecessary exposure and fatigue. Some of our most valued citizens, it is to be feared, have, by such improduces, sacrificed their lives. Let the pursuits of gain and the excitements of business be suspended, or at least modernied, for a time, and let every person who feels himself at all indisposed, reat quietly at house for a few days, until the exhausted energies of the system are rollied. The undersigned are convinced that many a useful life may be saved by this simple precaution.

In the third place, the undersigned would again urge upon their fellow citizens the necessity of endeavoring, by every means in their power, to preserve a cain and composed state of mind. Mclancholy experience has shown, that among all the exciting causes of the cholera, none is so likely to bring it ee as a perturbed state of mind. Let our citizens rest assured, that a manly courage, with a humble reliance on a benificent Providence for protection, is one of the best precenturies against the aramits of this disease. Judging from past experience, as well as from present appearances, the uncertified believe that we have seen the worst of the cholera, and that not many weeks will clause before returning health will these our city.

INTELLIGENCE BY THE MAILS.

Our Washington Correspondence WASHINGTON, August 7, 1849

The Mosquito Country and the British Government The attempt of the British government, through their Consul at New York, to interdict our citizens from enjoying privileges guarantied them by the State of Nicaragua, upon the plea that they interfere with the rights of his Majesty the king of Mosquito, has naturally excited the utmost indignation. The whole pretension of England is so absurd, and has so little foundation, that were it not for the Consul's letter and other facts which have come to our knowledge, we might well doubt the reality of the matter, and sonsider it all a figment of the imagination. But the consul has officially informed "Mr. Clapp and Dr. Brown," that the exclusive right of navigating the 'St Juan river belongs to the King of Mosquito, (and his ally, the Queen of England,) and that "her Majesty's government is bound to protect the King of Mosquito," and will, of course, forcibly prevent our citizens from navigating the waters of St Juan. The British government, we understand, has refused to listen to the remonstrance of the State of Nicaragua, and has taken a most decided stand in the matter. It remains to be seen whether our government will submit to the insolent pretensions set up by that country. sul's letter and other facts which have come to our mains to be seen whether our government will submit to the insolent pretensions set up by that country.

The manner in which England has obtained an interest in the affairs of the Mosquito kingdom is too well known to require any explanation. She has set up a pupoet, and imagines that, through it, she can succeed in obtaining a foothold upon the South American coast. It would, unquestionably, be most valuable to her. To say nothing of the command of the Nicaraguan outlet to the Atlantic, she would have a fine depart for her navy, and could almost command the whole Gulf of Mexico. The stake, therefore, is a heavy one, and she will scarcely quietly surrender it. But, even the "King of Mosquito" himself, has no rightfut claim to control the navigation of the St. Juan river. He is a mere rebel, owing allegnace to Nicaragua, and only able to uphold his not pendeuce through the actual interference and u port of England. The whole matter is, therefore, a monstrous attempt, upon the part of the British government, to obtain, by fraud and intumdation, an accession to her dominions; and this, too, at the expense of the rights of our citizens. We have too much faith in the administration to believe, for a moment, that such "claims" will be recognised, or that England will be permitted to pursue such a policy. Already, we understand, have the British planted a number of forts along the river, and we suppose she is prepared to back up Mr. Consul Barclay's letter, and forcibly prevent an interference with "the aghts of the King of Mosquito" If England persists in this belligerent attitude, we can not see how friendly relations can be maintained with her, Much as a war with her would be deplored, it would still be far preferable to a tame submission to the disgraceful and dishonest policy she is pursuing; and we do not hesitate to predict that, unless she recedes from her present posture, a war is previously.

Rey's Abduction-The Home Squadron-The President's Tour, &c.

We have reason to believe that the rumor that the home squadron has been ordered to Havana, to demand the restoration of Juan Francisco Rey, is premature. The subject of Rey's abduction has of course received the attention of the government, but so far, the information received has nor been sufficiently decisive to warrant the steps being taken which rumor asserts. It is understood that the last official advices received here from Mr. Logan Hunter, the United States District Attorney, express very great doubt as to whether Rey was abducted; and certainly the return of Captain was abducted; and certainly the return of Captain McConnell, the master of the schooner which conveyed Rey to Havana, would go far to show that he is conscious of his innocease in any participation in forcibly carrying Rey from our shores.

We believe, however, that the home squadron at Pensacola has been ordered to hold itself in readiness to sail at a moment's notice, but its destination is not known. It is fair to infer that this order is connected with the case of Rey, and, if it should turn out he was abducted, there is no doubt so great an outrage upon our honor will be promptly repelled, and rell, ample, and unqualified satisfaction demanded, with a powerful fleet to give due weight to the demand. A correspondence has already been opened with the government of Cuba, and the feelings of this government pretty plainly expressed as to the indignity of such an outrage as the abduction of any person who has landed on our shores and is under the protection of the American flag.

The President leaves into city, upon his four North, on Thursday evening next. He goes from here to Baltimore, thence to Harrisburg, and so on tarough the State to Pittsburgh, &c. He will be accompanied by Dr. Wood, his son-in-law. The press of business in the departments will prevent any of the Secretaries leaving here at present.

The Recent Appointments - Probation - Contemplated Removal-Discovery of a Silver Mine-Consel to Cores. &c. Mr. Collamer, the Postmaster General, in selecting clerks for removal, several weeks ago, took se whose pecumary circumstances wor it. This applied only to the democrats, for the reason that there were but two whig clerks out of forty-eight incumbents! Notwithstanding this disparity, the Union and other prints made a thundering noise when a dozen whigs were provided for in his department. Mr. Meredith, the Secretary of the Treasury, it is said, will act on the same principle, if he act at all. His movements are so slow that he has given offence to the seckers after place, who begin to "write bitter things against him." Mr. Ewing, of the Interior, will not even entitle Mr. Ewbanks, the Commissioner of the Patent Office, and Mr. Butterfield, the Commissioner of the Land Office, with removals. He does the work himself, and, even in writing a polite note of dismissal to a petty meesenger, he subscribes himself. "Your obedient servant." There is one thing we especially like in this Secretary; the eighteen clerks whom he has recently appointed are put on a kind of probation of three months. If, at the end of that time, they prove themselves competent, they will be continued; if not, be dismissed. There is no disguising the fact, that one-tenth of the government elerical force is worthless, and if the heads of the departments would lop off the rotten branches, without regard to whig or democrat, the honest men of both parties would join in a hearty amen! The rewarding of mere partisans, without an equivalent from the recipient, is downright fraud, and should not be tolerated.

The election for members of Congress took place in Indiana yesterd-y, and we have no account of the result. The whigs expect to gain, and the democrats to lose. When the smoke of the battle shoil have cleared away, and the agitation in that State calmed down, the President will, it is said, remove the old wheel-horse of democracy, General Lane, the Governor of Oregon. The objection to the general is, that he was very sbusileve of the President. But, apart from this, governors of territories have much to do in giving political direction to the incipient States. Among others, Michigan, Arkansus, Florida, lowa, and Wisconsin, came into the Union under the democratic flags after having had democrate governors of territories have nuch to do in giving boths he chipped dering noise when a dozen whigs were provided for in his department.
